
(almost) free Tascam M520 Console

Posted by papertiger - 2006/03/23 03:47

Ok, so my cousin has a Tascam M520 console that he needs to get rid of. I think it's in pretty good condition, perhaps issues with a couple of pots or a channel or two (I can ask) but he needs to get it out of the house -- kids, wife, etc. are starting to take up room, and he hasn't used it in YEARS.

So, here's the deal. We live in the DC area -- if you're interested, contact me. At this point, someone can pretty much take it, no questions asked. The only catch is that if you don't live in the DC area, plan on paying ALL shipping costs, etc. If you live near enough, you can always drive over, pick it up, and buy us a pizza.

Happy considering. . .

I'll play you rock paper scissors for it. I'm in Leesburg. My last set up is dead so now I have nothing. Grrrrr.

the 520 is one of the only small desks that can catch up with big consoles...

Tascam tried to copy neve in their early mixing desks.

The weight of the powersupply tells the story..excellent desk for bass music.
