
AvrX DIY synthesizer pre-release now available!

from an email:

Hello all!

There are some updates on avrx. We have put a pre-release version of the user manual there so you can have a deeper look in the AvrX.

Unfortunately the price is a little higher than we first estimated. This is mostly because we forgot to include the 25% Swedish VAT at first. We can sell to businesses without the tax. We also decided to sell a stripped down version of the kit without the box for those of you who want to design your own box. You can read more about the details on the site.

Best regards

This looks cool. Unfortunately I already have a couple projects underway. When I get those done I'm going to definitely check this out.

Looks like a fun synth, and I'm a real sucker for DIY stuff.
