I havent been here that long, but everyone has been pretty helpful, and cool to boot. The spam sucks, and i guess I missed this place in its heyday...

I sent in my activation for elektronauts, but havent been accepted yet. Wonder when its coming. I would really like to see more of the sandbox and science lab type stuff.....

please be mindful of users with limited or very expensive bandwidth, like smartphone users for example. on this site i have to activate (load) images to be access basic functions like "reply" etc . on other sites the hyperlink still shows up even if the image for the button doesn't load. not here though. thanks!

That's a good point INK

also, as E_naughts is being underwritten by Elektron, what is the possibility of an app for phones (android here) I tend to do all my browsing with a phone these days?
